€12 - 25 (booking fees may apply)

Donegal, Sligo, Roscommon, Wicklow,

Dublin, Kerry, Cork and Kildare

Music Network's 2025 spring season comes to a thrilling close with the outstanding saxophonist Emma Rawicz performing with her exceptional quartet featuring Elliot Galvin (piano), Kevin Glasgow (Bass) and Asaf Sirkis (drums).

Emma Rawicz saxophone

Elliot Galvin piano

Kevin Glasgow bass

Asaf Sirkis drums

Described by Jamie Cullum as "an astonishing talent" and praised by BBC 3 as "the name on everyone's lips right now," Emma has swiftly become a rising star on the international music scene.

At just 19, Emma released her critically acclaimed debut album Incantation, launching a UK tour that featured headline performances at renowned venues such as Ronnie Scott's and the Jazz Cafe. Her latest album, CHROMA, released on the ACT label, was selected as The Guardian's Album of the Month and has earned her further international recognition.

A multi-award winning saxophonist and composer, Emma has played in over 16 countries, with standout performances at illustrious festivals and concert halls including a sold out performance at Berlin's Philharmonie and at the London Jazz Festival with the BBC Concert Orchestra. Recently selected as a BBC New Generation Artist, Emma is known for her daring compositions and electrifying live shows.

Don't miss this chance to witness one of jazz's most exciting young talents as she brings her bold, genre-defying style to Irish audiences in an unforgettable concert this June.
